STONINGTON

Governor H. Brown Sues to Foreclose on Note of $3,000—Philip McCormick Fined on Embezzlement Charge.

Governor H. Brown, of North Stonington, through his attorney, Judge Herbert W. Rathbun, has brought suit against Albert W. Burrows of Old Mystic, Sheldon A. DuCret of New York and L. Henry Adair of Wapping Falls, N. Y. The papers in the case have been served by Deputy Sheriff William H. Casey and the writ is returnable to the January term of the superior court for New London county. The action is to foreclose on a note of $3,000 dated December 2, 1913, given by Burrows to Brown. The security is the farm known as the Clark Whitford place, located partly in the town of Groton and partly in the town of Ledyard, with dwelling and large barn, several outbuildings, and about 150 acres of land. Ackert holds a second mortgage of $6,000 on the property. DuCret purchased the property by warranty deed, subject to both mortgages and taxes for two years due the town of Groton.

Not Safe Banking.

Peter Fincheck, a laborer in the employ of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company, engaged in rock ballasting the roadbed in this section, with quarters in Westerly, had managed to save $61, which he carried with him. He became acquainted with Philip McCormick, who urged and persuaded Fincheck to turn the money over to him for safe keeping. This was on the 25th of November. Later Fincheck made a demand for his money upon his banker and was handed over the sum of $41 and was told that the other $20 had been lost, but would be paid to him in weekly installments of $10. This plan did not work and McCormick was arrested on the charge of embezzlement. He pleaded not guilty to the charge, Saturday morning, in the Stonington town court, but was adjudged guilty. The court imposed a fine of $50 and costs and he was given 30 days to make restitution. R. M. Delagrange became surety on McCormick's bond.

The members of the Westerly auxiliary, Ancient Order of Hibernians, are interested in the joint resolution introduced by Congressman Kennedy, for the erection in Arlington cemetery, Virginia, of a monument in honor of the various orders of Catholic Sisters of Mercy who gave their services as nurses on battlefields, and in hospitals in the Civil war. The resolution was introduced at the request of Mrs. Ellen Ryan Jolly, of Pawtucket, national president of the auxiliary, the members of which organization are to bear the expenses of the proposed memorial the selection of the site to be left with the secretary of war. Records of the services of these Sisters who served in the Civil war are in possession of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Westerly lodge of Elks has generously donated $100 to provide Christmas cheer for the poor, $50 to the People's Mission and $50 to the St. Vincent De Paul society. To increase the fund, the lodge had prepared for a sacred concert and the religious animated picture, The Sign of the Cross, the entire proceeds to be devoted to charity. The use of the Central theatre, in Pawtucket, was to have been gratis, also the orchestra, and the local singers, and quite a number of tickets had been purchased in advance, mostly by those who could not attend, but who desired to contribute their mite to the Christmas charity fund. There is a law tucked away in the Connecticut statutes that could be interpreted in a way to prevent a public entertainment, even of this nature, on a Sunday, as are many other laws that are not strictly enforced. Someone dug up the law that covered the point in regard to the Elks' sacred concert for charity, and made a formal demand upon the selectmen be enforced. The selectmen had no objection, and the sacred concert was cancelled.

Although there is a Congregational church in Pawtucket it so happens that not one Protestant clergyman resides in the village, still, it is claimed that opposition to the sacred concert for charity, emanated from the pastor of the Congregational church, who is evidently interested in other reform work along that line, such as fruit and confectionary stores being open Sunday evening, and boys loitering in pool rooms. It is also hinted that the movement against the Elks' sacred concert had the backing of the Westerly Ministerial association, which includes in its membership ministers resident in the town of Stonington and other neighboring towns. A prominent Elks in retaliation says there is an ordinance of the town of Westerly that requires a license fee for all public entertainments, and he does not understand why there should be discrimination in favor of churches, or even Chautauqua assemblages.

The state board of control and supply, of which Senator Louis W. Arnold, of Westerly, is a member, will hold several meetings this week with the officials of the several towns for the purpose of preparing a budget to be presented to the general assembly which convenes in January.

At the annual meeting of Robert Bruckner camp, No. 6, United Spanish War Veterans, these elective and appointive officers were selected: Daniel S. Harrington, commander; John A. Keegan, senior vice commander; Edward J. Burdick, junior vice commander; Frank Bruckner, officer of day; William E. Knight, officer of guard; George E. Leonard, adjutant; Arthur N. Nash, quartermaster; Russell B. Smith, surgeon; John Wilson, musician; Walter D. Syne, historian; Shelby Nicholas, trustee for three years. Past commander Isaac F. Gavitt will install the officers at the next meeting, whenever it is held. The Grand Army of the Republic and Boy Scout masters are to be invited to the installation ceremony.

Deputy Sheriff Charles A. Bennett, of South Kingston, formerly connected with the Providence police department, in jail in the Washington county jail, in Hingham, voluntary petition of bankruptcy on Friday in the United States district court at Providence, through his attorney, George R. McKenna, of Westerly, was adjudged bankrupt. He has no assets to offset liabilities estimated at $5,985.75. The items enumerated include automobile supplies, $11 for soda water, $1.75 for bottle openers and $3 for cigars.

John C. Burdick, for many years a resident of Pawtucket, was found dead in bed at his home, 141 Mechanic street Sunday morning. He retired at 9 o'clock Saturday night in apparently good health, and as he did not appear at breakfast, Mrs. Burdick went to call her husband and found him dead. Dr. John L. May was called and declared that Mr. Burdick had been dead for several hours and from a natural cause, presumably, heart disease. Dr. George D. Stanton, medical examiner for the town of Stonington, was notified and after examination concurred with the opinion of Dr. May as to the cause of death. Mr. Burdick was seventy years of age and is survived by Mrs. Burdick and two daughters.

Eli P. Stannard, a Civil war veteran and for many years a resident of Westerly, died Saturday in Providence at the home of his son, Grosvenor, with whom he had resided since leaving Westerly seven years ago. Besides the son, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Hobart C. Saunders. Mr. Stannard was 81 years of age, and was born in East Dunham, N. Y. Burial will be at River Bend.

At the annual meeting of Misquamicut tribe, Improved Order of Red Men, officers were elected as follows: Walter Nash, sachem; W. E. Saunders, senior sagamore; Frederick Boulter, junior sagamore; John E. Morrison, chief of records; Alfred H. Chapman, collector of wampum; William Mincher, keeper of wampum. Retiring Sachem Otis Chapman was chosen prophet.

Following closely upon the finding of a human skeleton in the Cedar Swamp section of the town of Westerly is the finding of another dead body of a man, almost a skeleton, in the woods at Woody Hill, about three quarters of a mile southwest of Newell's quarry. The remains of the dead body were discovered by William Bonar, James Carey and Joseph Duchette, who were on a hunting trip. They saw a derby hat lying close to a ledge and when the hat was picked up, it was found to contain a human skull. Investigation was made and about ten feet distant the balance of the remains were found. It is quite probable that the separation of the body was the work of animals.

Dr. Michael Scanlon, the medical examiner was notified, and after a view of the remains order for removal was given to Undertaker Murphy. There was nothing about the body that gave any clue as to its identity, but Dr. Scanlon is of the opinion that there may be identification when the finding of the body is generally known. The man had worn a blue suit of clothes, as torn remnants were found near the body, and it is believed the store mark in the hat may be deciphered. The upper teeth are almost perfect. After the remains are placed in position, and a more careful examination made, it may be that some other detail may be obtainable, and identification made. The body had been where found probably at least five years.

Local Laconics.

hot coffee and the contents spilled, scalding the child from his chin to his feet. It is not believed that permanent disfigurement will result.

In addition to the nomination of John A. Farrell as postmaster at Westerly, nominations were also made of Emory E. Deslites to be postmaster at Manville, Farn E. Lamb at Natick and John McKie at Warren.

Rev. F. A. McDonald conducted the funeral service of John Dorman at his home in Chester avenue. Burial was at River Bend and the bearers were Alexander Aitken, Peter Brodie, James Fiddes and Alexander Sutherland.
